ABOUT US

Since 1991, Construction Information Systems (CIS) has been the Northeast's leading online provider of project information for the construction industry. Our new and improved marketplace allows industry professionals to find their most profitable work, organize projects, collaborate with each other and improve their brands. CIS offers:

- Daily information so we won't miss a job...and neither will you.
- Customized reporting that covers public and private sector projects, contractors and design firms.
- Aside from our project lead service, CIS has the most elaborate directory for the construction industry.
- Classifieds where you can buy and sell material and equipment at no charge.
- Personalized customer service that includes training and project research.

The most complete and accurate listing of private projects
